Guest Speaker Spotlight: Dan Custer – Head Brewer, Sound2Summit Brewing by Paul Pfeffer

We had the pleasure of hearing from Dan Custer, Head Brewer at Sound2Summit Brewing, who shared his journey into the world of craft beer.

Dan's passion for brewing began with simple brown ale and stout kits. His interest deepened after Eric Wilson introduced him to GEBL, sparking a lasting enthusiasm for the craft. In 2017, Dan purchased RJ's brewing system and began honing his skills—learning through trial and error, and plenty of early setbacks. Through persistence, he developed the consistency and technique that define his brewing today.

On April 17, 2017, Dan officially began his brewing career, gaining experience through roles at Crucible Brewing, At Large Brewing, and Ninkasi Brewing in Eugene, Oregon. He later connected with Doug at Sound2Summit Brewing, where he joined the team as an assistant brewer, working alongside Adam Frantz. Through dedication and growth, Dan advanced to become Head Brewer.

Dan was also awarded a brewer's scholarship to attend the Intensive Brewers Engineering program (see article in January 2026 GEBL newsletter), a six-month online course he is currently completing. Now halfway through, he continues to expand his technical knowledge and refine his craft.

At Sound2Summit, Dan is pushing boundaries with innovative techniques, including no- to low-boil brewing methods. One example is the IPA "2nd Ascent," which showcases this evolving approach.

Thank you, Dan, for sharing your story and insights.

May Meeting

Our next meeting will be Monday, May 11 starting at 6:30 pm at Sound2Summit in Snohomish. Bring your best home brewed pale ales and international blondes for judging. We will also vote on proposed changes to the GEBL Constitution.

Beer Wars: Sat Aug 22nd– noon GEBL and Stilly Mashers

Beer competition and backyard games. Session beer and backyard game Homebrew club competition! The goal is to tip a few back on a summer day and duke it out in backyard games on Dennis and Eveylyn's property while a non-biased brew guru blind judges our beer based on quality alone. RV's and tents are highly encouraged. Dennis and Eveylyn are members of Stilly Mashers. They have a wonderful big barn brewery (including a bathroom) and lots of property for fun and camping. They are really nice folks and everyone is excited for our two clubs to get together. They would like to make this an annual event/competition and invite other clubs.

Beer style guidelines – each club submits ONE beer per category to represent their club:

- Light – under 5% and under 6 SRM
- Dark – under 5% and minimum 12 SRM
- Hoppy – under 5% and expresses hops

Backyard Games:

- Bocce – singles, minimum 2 people per club
- Cornhole – doubles, minimum 2 teams per club
- Kuub – team competition, minimum 4 people

Each club will have its own mini bracket for Bocce and Cornhole. The winners from each club face off in the title match for that game. The final game will be Kuub, a Nordic team backyard game. The winning club for each backyard game and each beer competition wins point. The club that wins the majority of the six competitions wins Beer Wars 2026! Tiebreaker is a stein holding competition. You don't need to be present to represent your club for the beer competitions, each club will choose one beer per category to represent their club.

Proposed Changes to GEBL Constitution By President Shelley Albright

Please review the proposed changes to the constitution on the next few pages of this newsletter (proposed changes in red). The board has passed these changes and we will be voting on these changes at the next general meeting. Thanks to Todd, Jim, Gary, Steve and myself for being on the committee.

April 2, 2026 DRAFT (suggested edits in red)

Greater Everett Brewer's League Constitution ~~_/By-Laws~~

Article 1 Name

This Corporation shall be known as the Greater Everett Brewer's League, Inc., a non-profit state of Washington Corporation. It is hereafter referred to as GEBL.

Article 2 Affiliation

This corporation shall not be subject to the constitution and/or by-laws of any other group or organization.

Article 3 General Membership

3.1 Definition of Member

Any person of legal drinking age who has been accepted as a GEBL member and who maintains current payment of dues or has been voted in as an honorary member, is considered to be a member of the GEBL. Only members in good standing may exercise voting privileges. Membership shall be Single (one person) or Family (one person plus one spouse / significant other). Any member in good standing demonstrating genuine interest in the purposes and functions of the GEBL can attend Executive Committee meetings.

3.2 Dues

- a) Changes in the amount of dues shall be proposed by a majority vote of the Executive Committee. Notice of this proposed change shall then be presented in the club newsletter. ~~At the following monthly meeting, the proposed change shall be put to a vote of the general membership. Approval of the dues shall require a majority vote of club members, in good standing, present at that meeting. Club members who wish to vote on the dues, but who cannot attend the meeting, may vote by either a written signed ballot or by giving another member his/her signed proxy.~~
- b) Dues are to be collected once per year, in January, for all members.
- c) Members who join the club during the course of the year shall be charged dues based on a pro-rated schedule. This schedule shall be the amount of the dues divided by twelve (12) and multiplied by the remaining number of months in the year.
- d) Dues shall be paid by the February meeting. Members with dues outstanding shall be notified, and if not paid by the March meeting, the member may be dropped from the roster.

3.3 Requirements for Membership in the GEBL

Because the GEBL is a club related to the general education, consumption and production of an alcoholic beverage, certain conventions must be followed in order to become a member of the GEBL. If a visitor expresses an interest in becoming a member of the GEBL, a GEBL officer shall explain the membership requirements. Those requirements are:

- a) The candidate must announce publicly to a GEBL officer that he/she wishes to become a member of the GEBL.
- b) Once that announcement has been made, the candidate shall be required to attend a minimum of ~~four-three~~ (34) regular GEBL meetings or functions. It shall be the responsibility of the Membership Coordinator to maintain records of candidate attendance.
- c) During the candidate's attendance at these meetings, the general members should attempt to acquaint themselves with the candidate. Particular attention shall be paid to the manner in which the candidates conduct themselves in the presence of alcohol.

Approved by membership August, 2009

- d) After the ~~fourth-third~~ meeting/function requirement has been met, and at the next ~~scheduled-attended~~ regular meeting, the candidate shall leave the meeting ~~room~~-area. The members present shall have the opportunity to discuss the candidacy of the person in question.
- e) The general members shall vote by show of hands to accept the candidate as a member, or deny membership. The vote must be four/fifths majority ~~of meeting attendees~~ for the candidate to become a member of the GEBL.
- f) If a candidate fails to gain the approval of the general membership, a second period of discussion shall be held. At the conclusion of the discussion, a second vote shall be taken by show of hands. If the candidate again fails to achieve the required approval, the candidate is denied membership. This shall not prevent the candidate from seeking membership in the future.
- g) Candidates for membership, who miss three consecutive club meetings, may lose their candidacy, unless they have contacted an ~~Executive o~~ Executive Officer of the Executive Committee with their continued intent to achieve membership status. Candidates in good standing shall receive a monthly newsletter, but shall not vote or hold office. Candidates ~~shall not~~ be eligible to win ~~points at the monthly~~-tasting events.

3.4 Loss of Membership

Once again, due to the fact that we are an alcohol related club, we must consider the ramifications of unattractive behavior. To that end, the GEBL has adopted the following procedure:

Should a member become involved in an altercation at a club sponsored function that the Executive Committee becomes aware of, or should a complaint be filed with the Executive Committee by a member regarding the behavior of another member, an emergency meeting of the Executive Committee shall be called. The Executive Committee shall make a ~~recommendation decision~~ regarding the incident, with the good of the club in mind. The decision of the Executive Committee is final and not subject to review.

3.5 Lapsed of Membership

Any member who has not paid there dues for one year, their membership status has lapsed. If a person's membership has lapsed for less than two (2) years, the Executive Committee shall decide if that person is required to repeat the membership process as defined in Section 3.3 of this constitution. If a person's membership has lapsed for greater than two years that person ~~shall~~ repeat the membership process as defined in Section 3.3 of this constitution.

3.65 Honorary Membership

Each year, the ~~Membership-Executive Committee~~ shall have the opportunity to nominate and elect individuals who have demonstrated outstanding service to the club, as honorary members. Election is by a ~~four/fifths~~ majority vote. Honorary Members shall have all the rights and privileges of a GEBL membership, and shall abide by the Constitution ~~and By-laws~~. Annual dues shall be waived.

3.76 Brewer of the Year

At the beginning of a new Club Year the ~~pervious-previous~~ year's Executive Committee shall select Brewer(s) of the year.

Article 4 Meetings

The GEBL shall ~~normally~~ meet monthly. Special meetings may be called by the Executive Committee.

Article 5

A quorum for conducting business on the Executive Committee shall be a simple majority of Executive Committee members. The Executive Committee serves as the GEBL Finance Committee

Spring on the BC Ale Trail by Dave Cook

Many of you know about the “Ale Trails” around the world and Jason and I have been on a few of them. This spring, Jason and I took our lovely wives on the BC Ale trail. (Yes, they love beer). Our itinerary was the Fraser River portion of the trail. We selected Abbotsford as our home base and spent 4 days visiting some amazing breweries.

Day 1 took us to Old Yale Brewing in Abbotsford. This is a brewery and sports bar with delicious beers and food. They also had numerous games like corn hole, foosball and pinball to pass the time. Some standout beers were their Westcoast Lager and the Berry Hibiscus Sour. They also had IPA's and darker beers. Our second stop was Field House Brewing, also in Abbotsford. This was a totally different vibe with a small tasting room but a large outdoor space. We had a flight to start then ordered a Gold Pilsner, Dark funky sour, Hazy IPA, and Japanese Rice lager. All were excellent.

Day 2 we traveled to Langley which was 30 minutes west. Our first stop was at Dead Frog Brewery. I know, a terrible name but the beers were great. This brewery was in a “Man Mall” which included three motorcycle dealerships, a weed store, a gun store and the brewery. They had so many beers on tap we ordered two flights then a couple of pints. Our next stop was Camp Beer Company. It had an outdoor theme and an early Happy Hour so we were able to have a nice lunch to go with our beers. Another good selection of beer styles so there was something for everyone. Our server mentioned an out of the way brewery to try on the way back to Abbotsford. It was also mentioned at the first place so we had to try it. Locality Brewing is located on a farm where they grow their own hops and barley. We got to meet the “maltster”, who was from Australia. A really nice guy who hung out with us for an hour. The tasting pavilion was an outdoor area overlooking a beautiful pond where they have live music during the summer. They had a good selection including a Witbier, Berliner Weisse, a couple of Saisons as well as lagers and IPAs. This place was definitely unique and would be a fun place to hang out on a warm summer afternoon/evening.

Day 3 we ventured East to Chilliwack with a morning stop in Harrison Hot Springs for a nice morning hike. Our first Brewery was FarmHouse Brewing. It is a newer brewery located in the farming area, and we were surprised by how busy they were on a Thursday afternoon. The girls had a flight of their sours, and the boys had a Pilsner and a Dark Lager. They were all perfect with the wood fired pizza.

Stop #2 was SideKick brewing which had an awesome riverfront patio to enjoy a snack and a round of beer. Their Pilsner was delicious as well and a very nice full bodied Hazy IPA. Another brewery with a full selection of different styles.

One more stop on our way back to Abbotsford took us to Raven Brewing. This was in an industrial area and was a production brewery. They did have a couple of tables and a cooler full of beer to go, but the owner said we could hang out and try his beer while he closed up for the night. He said they had to close their tasting room during covid and switched to production for now. He had some very interesting beers including one that was Ghost Pepper Sour. That one was tart and spicy. The others we tried were his Lager and Mosaic IPA.

Day 4 was a travel day but we had to make one more stop on our way to the Border. Smuggler's Trail brewing in Langley was open early so we stopped for a snack and of course tasted some beer. This one was on our list because they had old English Ales on a beer engine. The two we tried were amazing.

This was an amazing "Beercation" and we highly recommend you try it someday. It is so close, the scenery was awesome, and the brewery food was delicious. The bonus was the 6-dollar happy hour beers which converted to $4.38.

Here Comes the Judge

What happens to your excellent beer, mead, and cider entries after you drop them off?

We have cold storage to keep every entry in the best condition until judging day. Our competition organizer, cellar master, and a few volunteers get together between entries and the competition to sort the bottles into flights. Each table of two judges will judge several flights of 5-7 beers as part of the first round of judging. A flight may be all the same sub-category of beer, or a few similar ones – it just depends on what has been entered.

On judging day our competition organizer will have reviewed the list of judges and list of flights and created a plan for which pairs of judges will receive which slights. Our stewards facilitate bringing flights to and from the tables, making sure tools and supplies are available, and collecting score sheets and flight sheets. Every entry gets its chance to be served, smelled, sipped, and scored on its own merit.

Two or more judges evaluate each beer, mead, or cider using Beer Judge Certification Program (BJCP) style guides and scoresheets. Our competition relies on a great community of BCJP certified judges to help lend their expertise to judging and to training new judges and stewards so they can become our next generation of experts.

Here is a link to the various style guides available: <https://www.bjcp.org/bjcp-style-guidelines/> and here is a link to the Competition page with scoresheets and other information: <https://dev.bjcp.org/competitions/supplies-reference-materials/>

After the first round, all scoresheets are gathered up for return to the entrants. Judges are encouraged to be impartial and write plenty of comments. The style guides provide common term and help focus on the characteristics of your entry, rather than just judges' preferences. From the flight results, the best of the best are promoted to a Best of Show round where a panel of experienced judges will select the very best of the competition.

So how can you get more involved? Use the style guide and the scoresheets from BJCP to evaluate your own creations, and save those to compare to sheets and judge comments you get back from a competition. Join or attend meetings of one or several local brew clubs. Most clubs regularly do informal judging and feedback as part of their meetings, and you can also meet experienced judges there. And do volunteer to help at competitions, even if you feel you do not have enough experience. We can use every volunteer to help the organizers, steward at tables, or sit with an experienced judge and judge a flight or two. Cheers!
